

SCENE

fun • fashion • food

Investment dressing for Derby

Lynn Dunbar

A HEART
FOR ART

4

Equine spirit

8

A bed for your cell

13

DINE:
Chick
Inn

20

Off to the Races

Bet on this: Follow our fashion tips and you'll have a winning day at the track

By Javacia N. Harris ■ Photos by John Rott

Fabulous out-of-towners and stylish celebrities will soon flood our city for the Derby. But there's no need to let them outshine you. Guys, we stopped by Banana Republic in Oxmoor Center, 7900 Shelbyville Road, and ladies, the new Peacock Boutique, 2828 Frankfort Ave., to find you a few looks that will have heads turning and cameras flashing.

Tyquan Robinson is sporting a navy poplin suit from Banana Republic (jacket, $250; pants, $128). He's also rocking an eye-catching orange textured tie ($59.50) that brings out the orange accents in his shirt ($79).

Kristen Carnes puts the paddock tulips to shame in this floral dress ($419 at Peacock Boutique) by designer Betsey Johnson. She's also wearing earrings ($64) by local jewelry designer Summer Eliason.

Her flirty headband ($59 at Peacock Boutique) is by designer Jennifer Ouellette, whose headbands have been worn by famous fashionistas like Gwen Stefani, Kate Hudson and Julia Roberts.

And when you win big at the track, you can stash your cash in this clutch by Jalda ($259).

While other women are wearing little black dresses, you'll stand out from the crowd in this pink dress ($525) by designer Jay Godfrey. Accent your pretty-in-pink look with a clear quartz necklace ($195) by W&N, sexy silver shoes ($149) by Diego di Lucca and a silver handbag ($450) by Jalda.

Gentlemen, after the races, trade your suit for a more casual look such as a cool blazer ($198) and a pair of boot-cut khakis ($59.59). A short-sleeved dress shirt ($49.50) should help you stay cool when the dance floor gets hot. If you need to dress it up a bit for your post-Derby party, add a fun tie ($59.50) to complete the look.

If you're going for an even more laid-back look, try this pale green linen shirt ($54.50) and make it pop with this rich green T-shirt ($16.50).

